Young Leadership Council Announces the 2012 Board of Directors

New Orleans, LA (February 28, 2012) – The Young Leadership Council (YLC) is proud to announce the addition of new members to its 2012 Board of Directors as well as the promotion of current members to new leadership positions.

New board members include Calais Hurst, Metairie Park Country Day School; Kelley Bagayoko, Office of Rep. Helena Moreno; Kevin Douglass, Advantage Capital Partners; Mairin Charles, ReNEW Schools; Bradley McCoy, Stirling Properties, Inc. and Warren Surcouf III, Cerion Gulf LLC. Douglass will serve as treasurer, Bagayoko will serve as vice president of membership, and Hurst will function as vice president of communications.

The following YLC current board members are moving into leadership positions: Alyssa Wenck will serve as the president of the organization in 2012; Semmes Walmsley will function as vice president of development; Dan Jatres will serve as vice president of projects; Kenneth Polite will serve as secretary and general counsel; and Richard Pavlick will act as president-elect. Joseph Giarrusso III, who completed his term as president in 2011, will now function as a past president.

Current YLC board members include the following: Sayde Finkel, William Hales, Askala Harris, Jeff Hebert, Ryan Kruse, Stephen Pate, Kate Schneiderman, Christina Sheets, Matthew Treuting, Patrick Walsh, Amy Walters, Aimee Willem, and Erica Woodley.

The Young Leadership Council is a non-profit, non-partisan civic organization created to develop leadership through community projects. Through volunteer-created community projects, the YLC recruits and retains young professionals to New Orleans, creating a positive impact on the quality of life in the region. The oldest, independent YPO (young professionals' organization) in the country, the YLC has raised more than $25 million to support community projects in and around the New Orleans area since 1986.
